“I reached out to the OTA Research Mentoring Program at a very early stage in my career and was lucky to be paired up with Dr. Archdeacon. The ability to discuss my aspirations and hopes for the development of my career with someone who had already been down this path was very valuable. The process of trying to articulate what I was trying to build in our research program and defend those thoughts was invaluable. Mike was very helpful and was able to identify other OTA members that would be beneficial for me to network with given my interests. The experience was positive and valuable and I would recommend this program to mentees starting their careers.”
