Message from the President:

A Year in Review

Douglas W. Lundy, MD, MBA, FIOTA, FACS

As I reflect on the OTA's achievements in advancing our mission and strategic plan throughout 2024, I feel an overwhelming sense of pride to be part of this exceptional organization. I am deeply grateful to our dedicated members who generously share their time, expertise, and leadership in support of our profession and the patients we serve.

There are far too many volunteers whose contributions have been instrumental to our success for me to name individually. Whether you served in a leadership role, as faculty, on a committee, as an editor, author, mentor, or industry partner—please know that your efforts are truly valued and appreciated.

I'm excited for all that lies ahead as we continue to make progress on the goals outlined in our 2023–2026 Strategic Plan. If you haven't yet had the chance, I encourage you to review my earlier messages that detail and explain the plan. And remember—the Strategic Plan was shaped by input from our members, and your continued feedback remains vital and welcome.

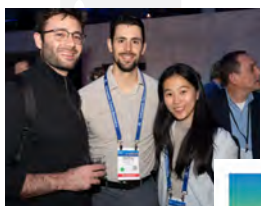

With sincere appreciation,

In Memoriam

Dr. Ramon Gustilo was one of the founders of the OTA and a remarkable pioneer in the field of Orthopedics. Dr. Gustilo was an inspiration to all who had the privilege to know and work with him.

His energy and inquisitiveness were infectious and his contributions to the advancement of orthopedic care immeasurable.

The roots of the Orthopaedic Trauma Association were planted during a lunchtime conversation between Drs. Gustilo, Bovill, and Chapman when Dr. Gustilo was visiting San Francisco General Hospital in 1977. What started as the Orthopaedic Trauma Center Study Group (OTCSG) became the Orthopaedic Trauma Hospital Association, and ultimately the OTA. Dr. Gustilo served as the first OTA President in 1983 and 1984.

Dr. James K. Styner was an orthopaedic surgeon who created the Advanced Trauma Life Support (ATLS) course in light of a personal tragedy. This approach to initial trauma care was subsequently adopted by the ACS Committee on Trauma in 1980. Since its inception, ATLS has been taught to more than 1 million physicians in over 88 countries and has been translated into 10 languages with the newest 11th edition currently in progress.

Center for Orthopaedic Trauma Advancement (COTA)

The Center for Orthopaedic Trauma Advancement (COTA) was chartered in 2009 to serve as a non-conflicted intermediary to distribute support for fellowships and postgraduate education from unrestricted grants donated by industry.

COTA has secured funding to provide support for orthopaedic trauma fellowships in the United States. Funding will be determined on the basis of the quality of the fellowship program and is expected to be a competitive process. The COTA board has established a committee to review applications and distribute grants. Grants will range between $2,000 and $75,000 and will be awarded annually based upon the program application in the first year and the program application as well as the report of the graduating fellow in subsequent years.

Since its inception in 2009 through April 2024, COTA has awarded more than $14,000,000 in fellowship funding to over 400 trauma fellowship programs, those being both full and partially funded programs. COTA decisions regarding the number of orthopaedic trauma fellowship grants will be determined by commitments received from industry during the selection meeting in March of each year.
